

ALJAZEERA

Congolese Artist Displays Chocolate Sculptures in New York

By Gabriel Elizondo — March 12, 2017

A groundbreaking art exhibition in New York City is combining three very unlikely things - sculptures, Congolese villagers and chocolate.

The show featuring artworks by Matthieu Kasiama, from the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC), is meant to bring awareness of a colonial past through the use of intricate art.

Al Jazeera's Gabriel Elizondo reports from New York.

Link: <http://www.aljazeera.com/video/news/2017/03/congolese-artist-displays-chocolate-sculptures-york-170312094158461.html>