Opening: ektor garcia at SculptureCenter

The artist ektor garcia uses a range of materials—from clay to metal to leather—to create sculptures whose elements are connected by a series of fasteners, loops, and knots. The end result tends toward modular works whose contents and dimensions have the ability to change as they move. Garcia's SculptureCenter exhibition continues a practice that serves as an investigation into labor and the craft traditions of the artist's family, which hails from Tabasco in the Mexican state of Zacatecas.
